Reconnect Rochester created a map of low-stress bike routes around the city. bit.ly/roceasybike

Rochester is easily accessible for cyclists from longer distances thanks to the multi-use Empire State Trail along the Erie Canal from Buffalo to Albany, the Genesee Riverway Trail and the Genesee Valley Greenway extending south.

TRANSPORTATION OPTIONS

ROCHESTER, NY

Bus/Transit

REGIONAL TRANSIT SERVICE (RTS)

www.myrts.com

Rochester's public transportation system connects communities across the greater region. The Rochester Transit Center, located on Mortimer St. between North Clinton Ave. and St. Paul St, offers a comfortable hub for bus travelers starting at just $1 a ride. Downtown destinations are accessible through existing routes or a combination of fixed route service and On Demand service. Call (585) 288-1700 or visit the website for services and schedules by county, and payment information. Or, download the Transit app.

Visitors to the Rochester area who are already certified to use ADA paratransit service in another community and are unable to use the accessible RTS fixed route bus are eligible to use RTS Access paratransit service for a limited time. Visit www.myrts.com/Access for details.

RTS On Demand can take people anywhere within one of the seven On Demand Zones in the greater Rochester area. Use RTS On Demand for curb-to-curb service, or meet RTS Connect service and other transportation options at a Connection Hub or bus stop.

Specialized Transportation Resources

Here2There.help connects people with transportation options tailored to their specific needs. Individuals enter trip parameters to discover a range of travel options, including public transportation routes, specialized services such as wheelchair-accessible vehicles, and door-to-door assistance, plus directions for walking, driving, or biking to their destination. The user then chooses the best option for them and contacts the provider to arrange transportation.

Multiple companies offer non emergency medical transportation services for people who are ambulatory, use a wheelchair or travel by stretcher to attend special family events such as weddings, funerals or holiday gatherings. Pre-arrangements are strongly recommended.
